Commenting on both Code of Conduct and Rules for Judicial Conduct

It should be clear by now, given the complaints about Brett Kavanaugh and how this has affected the typical American view of the Judicial system, that these changes were proposed with incredible foresight and should be implemented into the Code of Conduct as proposed... although we know from the Working Group report that the EEOC study found that sexual harassment was so pervasive that this was probable of any judge that happened to be nominated. Many of us Americans are outraged by the discovery that Kavanaugh likely is a sexual harasser and upset as well that nothing was done about it before he reached his current standing as a Supreme Court Justice. So this is a very welcome change.

As to the Rules for Judicial Conduct, I would ask that a "covered judge" include the Supreme Court, as the US Constitution would otherwise not hold them as above the law.

Respectfully,
